MOB IN CHICAGO

Woman Holds Crowd at Bay With Revolver in Attack on Her Home.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago.—With B. M. Jewell, head of the striking railway shopmen, still maintaining the conciliatory attitude he assumed after the strike was under way, but declining to make the first move toward settling the strike, the police are increasing the number of outposts and disorders marked the closing hours of the first week since shopmen throughout the country walked off their jobs last Saturday.

Federal injunctions restraining strikers from interfering with railroad operations, picketing workers and unlawfully picketing shops were issued at St. Louis, Ill., and St. Paul, Minn.

Mobilization of state troops was ordered by Adm. Gen. Black of Illinois following disturbances in the Washburn yards at Decatur. The governors of Missouri and Iowa were asked to send troops to scenes of disorders, and where peace was threatened in their states.

Chicago. In the last 24 hours, experienced its first outbreaks of violence in connection with the strike. A mob of strikers and sympathizers, which included many women, attacked and attempted to burn the homes of two Illinois Central employees at Burnside, who refused to join the walkout. Strands of police followed the mob after Mrs. Julia Gabel, 39, wife of one of the Illinois Central men, held the attackers at bay with a revolver. They attempted to break her home. "You were all my friends," she shouted at the mob, "but I'll kill the next one of you who throws a stone at my home."

Used Cars

More than 20 inquiries resulted from a used car advertisement in the Gazette a few days ago. The advertiser said he sold a car within two days.

The fact that there were 20 people interested in that particular car is a very good indication of what sales possibilities there are right now.

Individuals or dealers should both see to it that any offer of this kind they have, is described in an advertisement on the Want Ad page, the one place in the paper where attention is centered a few days in the same place.

Use the Want Ads to offer your used car for sale and quick return will come in; the better you describe the car the better your chances to get the attention of an interested customer. Use the Want Ads to find the car you want if you are a prospective purchaser. Phone 2560.

Tobacco Pool Figures to Be Known Saturday; District Heads Meeting

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison.—Tobacco growers of Wisconsin will know Saturday whether the present year's crop will be cooperatively marketed through their own northern Wisconsin tobacco pool or whether they will again enter the market as individuals to dispose of their product at prevailing prices.

The state department of markets is meeting Friday with temporary district chairman of the proposed pool to check contracts made with farmers to have agreed to enter the marketing organization.

Unless 75 percent of Wisconsin's 50,000 acres of tobacco has been contracted for, the pool will not be placed in operation this year.

Farmers in the northern growing districts of the state have entered the organization almost without exception. L. E. Foster, district commissioner of markets reports. The success or failure of the pooling arrangements depends on the response made by farmers in the Dane county section where 92,000 of the 50,000 acres of tobacco are grown.

"We are unable to predict now with any certainty whether or not the response in this southern section has been general enough to assure success of the pool," Mr. Foster said. "One guess is as good as another, and until the final checking is completed late Friday the department is unwilling to venture a prediction."

Should the marketing organization be set in operation, it would be the largest cooperative marketing plan yet undertaken in Wisconsin, involving the warehousing and sale of 40,000,000 pounds of tobacco. Over 5,000,000 would be required to set the pool in operation. The amount has been guaranteed by banks, according to the department of markets.

Bandits Shot; Aides Nabbed

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago.—A bandit, identified as F. C. Bruhnauer, former Milwaukee newspaperman, who staged a spectacular single handed holdup in a pawn shop and escaped with $1,000 last night, was shot to death when he and two accessories attempted to escape after an $8 robbery in a restaurant. An hour later a man, identified by restaurant employees as one of Bruhnauer's aides, and a woman, alleged "lookout" for the trio, were arrested.

"Moon" Costs Motorist $100

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

One drink of moonshine whiskey gave Frank Campbell, 1111 Drake street, so much confidence in his ability as a driver, Thursday afternoon, that he lost control of his car, wrecked his car and was arrested for reckless driving by Officer George Porter on the Beloit road. After pleading guilty to the charge in municipal court, Campbell was fined $100 and costs or six months by Judge H. L. Maxwell.

Campbell, an electrician working in Beloit, was laid off yesterday, and started to drink moonshine. He was "out" for a week, and was arrested by a "rat man" who asked for a lift to Janesville. A few miles out of Beloit the stranger offered him a drink of moonshine. Campbell said he had never seen the stranger before. After that his memory left him.

"I can't remember a thing after I took that drink, Judge," he confessed. "I was out for a week, and I went to or where the liquor is."

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago.—Warrants for the arrest of the president and secretary of the Topeka, Kan., local union of the Santa Fe shopmen were issued Friday under the Kansas industrial court act by the federal grand jury. The warrants are to be issued soon. The warrant constituted the first legal action against the strike itself, although numerous arrests had been made as the result of disorders.

15 Pct. Increase Seen in 1921-22 Business at Local Post-Office

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Receipts of business done at the local postoffice, an almost infallible barometer of general business conditions in the city, have increased 15 and one-third percent over those of the year preceding, and almost equal those of the six business boom years, 1920, the annual report of Postmaster J. J. Cunningham shows.

The fiscal year for the postoffice ended June 30. Figures for both the year and the last three months preceding that date are made then.

The three months ending June 30, 1920, were the busiest months in the history of the local postoffice. Receipts for that period were $33,504.84.

The year following, for the same period, receipts were down to $27,343.82 while for the three months this year, just ended, receipts were again up to $32,324.19, close to the high water mark, and constantly increasing.

The year from July 1920 to June, 1921 brought in $25,667.50 to the local office in receipts. From July 1, 1921, to June 30, 1922 the year just ended, the amount of business done was up to $31,972.83.

Shows Conditions Improving.
"The receipts are larger than I had expected," said Mr. Cunningham. "I knew business had been good and was steadily increasing with us, but I had hardly expected the receipts to be so close to those of the banner year we had. There is but one reason for the increase and that is the improvement in business conditions. Rockford, a city which was less affected by the business depression than many cities is size, reported an increase of 18 percent in receipts."

An interesting comparison was made with the receipts of ten years ago, when they averaged around $50,000 per year.

Free State Government Position Strengthened by Victory Over Insurgents.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Dublin.—Cathal Brugha, one of De Valera's chief lieutenants, died Friday from the wounds received Wednesday while trying to fight his way clear at the surrender of the republican garrisons in the Sackville Street area.

Brugha (Charles Burges) was one of the most prominent of the public leaders who opposed the terms of the Anglo-Irish treaty from the start. He was De Valera's minister of defense in the first cabinet, directing the campaign against the British in south Ireland up to the time the truce was signed last July. When the terms of the treaty negotiated by Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins and the other public leaders were rejected by the representatives in London last year, Brugha was known. He declared his opposition to the pact and fought against it in Dail debates and public speeches.

When the dispute between the factions broke out anew Brugha sided with the insurgents. He was in the operations in the Sackville Street area of Dublin he was re-elected to the Dail.

COALITION URGED BY BERLIN GROUPS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin.—The clerical and social democratic parties have addressed a joint appeal to the German people's party, inviting the latter to enter the government coalition "as the need of the hour demands the enrollment of all the national elements who are willing to give active aid in the work of rebuilding and building up the republic."

As a result of the appeal, the parliamentary situation has become more confused. There is little prospect of reconciliation between the two socialist parties and the people's party.

Selection of a successor to the late Paul Hunsbacker, former minister, also presents difficulties unless President Ebert and Chancellor Wirth can decide on appointment of some diplomat who is wholly without party affiliations.

Berlin continues without bourgeois newspapers, the striking printers permitting only the appearance of socialist and communist organizations.

The strike threatens to spread throughout Germany, trying up all but the radical press.

Ribbon of Gazettes, Janesville to Mexico

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The merchants of Janesville announced a sale Thursday in a remarkable edition of the Daily Gazette.

More than five tons of paper were used. Exactly 107,612 pages were in the edition. If the edition took away 20 pounds each it would have required over 200 boys.

In the rolls of paper printed there were 20 miles each to cross the Rio Grande at El Paso and make a considerable strip of white into Mexico.

35,322 copies of the paper were printed. The regular section of 10 pages and the merchants' section of 18 pages made a pile which threatened the facilities of the Gazette's large mail and press plant.

In every home within the great trade area of Janesville went not only the regular edition of the Gazette but wherever it is a regular visitor there also went a copy of the bargain news contained in this remarkable edition.

MORGAN CAMPAIGN MOVE TO ENFORCE OPENS WITH RUSH

[BY GAZETTE CORRESPONDENT.]

Elsworth.—Hitting mid-campaign front right of the bat, Attorney General William J. Morgan, candidate for the republican nomination for governor, in his first day's campaigning, covered three counties, traveled 125 miles and made four speeches, besides holding informal gatherings at a number of other places on Thursday, the first day in his campaign.

Mr. Morgan spoke at Mondovi, Alma, Durand and Ellsworth. At each place he was greeted by a local committee of men and women who had worked up a good crowd. Women were particularly vocal in their reception of the gubernatorial candidate. At each place where he stopped there was a gathering of the women folks, who greeted him, and expressed their determination of putting him over in the September primary.

Alma, famed in the early lumber days as the great lumber town, was the first place in the northwestern black-hass district. Mr. Morgan, with Edward G. Gatz, former assemblyman, and Judge M. L. Furling, the candidate was greeted by a large crowd. Mr. Morgan was introduced by Mayor M. W. Bowman.

Morgan is making his fight a street corner campaign. Feeling off his coat, and bareheaded, he candidly pushes right into live issues.

He announces to his audience that he neither has the time to deliver nor have they the time to listen to a gubernatorial candidate discussing national issues.

"I am running for governor," the candidate said on Thursday, "and I am going to tell you what I will do if elected governor of Wisconsin."

"The tariff issue was strongly stressed by Morgan."

Plaudits came in quick succession. Morgan talks about reducing taxes. Never before has there been so much hand clapping on the part of the audience as there was Thursday night. In which 44 Janesville stores are participating. The rush for the bargains offered, as indicated in the special bargain section of the Gazette Thursday night, is expected to be heavy. Merchants are arranging to care for crowds which may rival those seen here on Dollar Days.

GREEN CORN SEEN ON MARKET HERE

Many Sales Despite High Price of 70 Cents Per Dozen Ears.

Housewives need not scour the town these days for palatable fruits, for they are seen in all quantities and of all varieties in almost every grocery store in the city now. This week, and the coming few weeks will be the banner season of the year for fruits and vegetables, which are now profuse.

The new arrival in the market which will be hailed with the greatest enthusiasm will be green corn, which came in the middle of the week. While it is high, 70 cents a dozen ears, many people are buying it, proving its immense popularity. It will last throughout the rest of the summer and usually into the beginning of fall. It is said the crop is good this year, now that the fears for it drying up have been somewhat dispelled.

Fruit Prices Down.
The fruits now in season are of the same variety seen for the past three weeks, but have been reduced in price considerably. Red raspberries have dropped a good deal, and now cost 40 cents a box, as low as 35 cents for two pint boxes. Black raspberries are five and ten cents lower per quart than the red.

Peaches sell for different prices. Some stores, selling them by the large square box, ask 55 cents, while where sold by the quart box, they bring only 25 cents, the lowest price of the season.
Ears of corn, 75 cents a quart, three varieties of cherries are now being sold. The home-grown, sometimes called the sour cherries, sell for ten cents a box, some places asking a quarter for two boxes; the sweet cherries, more like the California variety, but raised in the middle west, cost 35 cents a quart in the few places they can be obtained; while the California, the large, deep red cherries, cost 50 cents a pound.

Grapefruit Unobtainable.
This is the first Friday in a month or two that grapefruit have not been obtainable. Local dealers say the season is closed on all varieties now. It was the best season in several years. Grapefruit is also unobtainable now, and pineapples have been gone several weeks.

Plums bring around 15 and 20 cents a dozen, several different varieties being offered. Apricots, which will last about two weeks, are 15 and 20 cents a dozen. Cantaloupes are as low as 10 cents each, while the price is higher according to the size of the melons. Watermelons remain at 40 cents each, but will go lower when home-grown melons arrive.

The low price on bananas is now 10 cents a pound, while oranges remain at 50 cents and lemons at 40 cents. New apples, the Transparent variety, cost 12 cents a pound and the old red ones, 10 cents.

Other Prices Unchanged.
Little change is seen in the market for the commodities in the vegetable market. Following are the items and the prices being asked by local dealers:

Green and wax beans, 10 and 15 cents a pound; celery, new from Michigan, 7 and 10 cents a stalk; green onions, 5 cents for a large bunch; dry onions, 8 cents a pound; radishes and leaf lettuce, 5 cents a bunch; carrots, 10 cents; head lettuce from New York, 15 cents per head; beets, 10 cents a bunch; new potatoes, 55 and 60 cents a peck; cucumbers, from 5 to 15 cents each; cabbage, 10 cents a head; tomatoes, 15 and 20 cents a pound; asparagus, 15 cents a good-sized bunch; and peas, 15 cents a pound.

Beans range in price from 25 to 35 cents a dozen and butter from 46 to 45 cents a pound.

from the porch where the determined woman stood with her man-aging revolver.

At Aurora, Ill., a crowd of strikers escorted a number of negroes to the city limits. The negroes had been sent from Chicago to work in the Burlington shops.

Peace Trend Seen.
Despite numerous outbreaks by strikers there was a general impression in rail circles that the trend of the strike was toward peace. It was expressed that Mr. Jewell would be brought together with the U. S. railroad labor board's two diplomats in mediation.

Chairman Ben W. Hooper and W. L. McMillen, one of the three labor members.

Railroads, meanwhile, continued to employ new men to take the jobs left by strikers and the ultimatum to return to work next week or forfeit all seniority rights, stood effective in shops throughout the country.

Strikers were reported at various points to be straggling back to the old jobs in uncertain numbers and at St. Paul, first negotiations looking toward a settlement of the strike on the Northern Pacific were begun between representatives of the strikers and officials of the system.

Says Strike Spreading.
Mr. Jewell exhibited telegrams from women's auxiliaries of shop crafts organizations, expressing support of the strike. He also announced the first sympathetic walkout by exhibiting messages informing him that 2,500 moulders, employed on railroads, had joined the ranks of the strikers.

Announcement by the Union, Pacific.

U. S. WATERMARKS WHISKEY BLANKS

Counterfeiting of "Scripts" Is Made Impossible by New Action.

It is now impossible for thirty Janesville residents to manufacture their own prescription blanks, according to local druggists. All prescriptions filled at Janesville drug stores must be on regulation blue paper identical with the type used in postoffice money orders. This ruling has been in effect since June 4. Druggists have been warned not to accept any but the new type of blank.

The old prescription blanks were printed on small cheap paper. There was nothing unusual about the printing. It could be re-produced in any print shop in Wisconsin. But the individual who now attempts to have his own private library of prescription blanks on which to forge a physician's name must not only be a printer, but also a lithographer, engraver and watermarks expert and must be financially able to purchase excellent stock as well.

The new form is on blue paper of the best grade. It is usually marked with intricate designs. The surface is so marked that minute identification marks are hidden on it. There is the word, "Prohibition," in a watermark running through the body of the blank several times. The words are visible when the blank is held to the light.

Indications are not lacking, however, that Michael Collins and his colleagues will need all the support they can get to put down the remaining resistance.

will then have none too many for the job of rounding up the guerrilla bands among the orders of republican headquarters.

The arrival in Cork harbor of a small squadron of British warships lends additional color to these reports, as it is believed they were sent in anticipation of serious trouble in that district.

The public is still kept guessing as to the whereabouts of Eamon de Valera. The latest report, published in the Daily Mail, says he spent Thursday night at Brittas, a hamlet 11 miles south of Dublin.

MIDLANDS CONTROLLED BY PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT.
Belfast.—All of the Irish midlands are now under control of the provisional government forces.

The fighting at Clonyn and Rosmead house at Delvin, county Westmeath, ended with the surrender of the republican garrisons to Captain Conlon of the free state forces. A heavy load of ammunition was taken from both buildings.

Boyle, County Roscommon, was taken by national troops, after an attack lasting several days.

USE GLASS LINED TANKERS FOR MILK

BIRDS HAVE VALUE PROTECTING FARMS

Able to Ship Fluid Milk Great Distances With New Cars.

Glass lined tank cars have been successfully used in transporting milk in large quantities in the Chicago dairy district. The success of these new tank cars is bound to play an important part in the supply of milk to any city. It will increase the distance at which the dealers can go out and obtain fluid milk for their market.

With these cars transportation costs have been reduced as well as less labor and the milk is kept in ideal condition from the time it is pumped into the cars at the country station until it is pumped out at the city plant. Three of the glass lined cars tried out in Chicago, are insulated and kept cool with a brine solution. There are two tanks in each car holding a total of 2,000 pounds of milk per car. On a 50 mile haul a saving of from $60 to $85 is reported.

Have Cooling System

The glass lined refrigerator tank cars create greater efficiency in handling and cooling. From the delivery station to the time milk reaches the consumer, milk is kept at a temperature of 38 degrees Fahrenheit, or lower, except when being pasteurized at the city plant. The milk is never exposed to the air. The glass lined tank is sterilized with steam under pressure as soon as it is emptied and the tank cooled again with fresh brine.

Tests are to be made for long hauling and it is believed that milk can be hauled across the American continent and be kept in good condition.

Effect on Farmers

These tanks are bound to have an effect on the Chicago dairy market. Dealers can go several hundred miles into northern Wisconsin, southern Illinois or Indiana and get milk at a lower price than is being paid in the immediate Chicago district. The only remedy, it is pointed out, is to obtain contracts with the city dealers to protect the producers in the immediate district. The fact that a glutted market with milk from outside the usual shipping zone. The only way to stop a glutted market is an iron-bound contract between the producer and the dealer to use only milk produced within a certain radius.

MUST REINSTATE TEACHER

Milwaukee.—Mrs. Elsie Dickert, Thompson Thursday was awarded a peremptory writ of mandamus, directed against the Milwaukee school board, by Circuit Judge Gustave G. Gehring, ordering the board to reinstate her to the position as teacher in the Scott Street school, which she lost when it was discovered she had married. The decision holds that the tenure law is applicable to all teachers who have satisfactorily completed their probation, regardless of their marital condition. It also holds that the pretended rule is a violation of the women's rights law, enacted by the 1921 legislature.

MORE LONG SKIRT PROOF FROM PARIS

This afternoon frock from Paris is merely further proof that skirts are getting longer. It is made of crepe built on long, soft, full lines. It is lifted out of mediocrity by the pretty red embroidered cuffs which adorn the neck, armholes, darts and even side drapings.

Sensible, Thinking Women

No longer doubt the efficacy of that old-fashioned root and herb medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, because it relieves the ailments to which they are afflicted. In almost every neighborhood there are living witnesses of its wonderful effects. Therefore, if you doubt its value or power to help you, ask your neighbor. In nine times out of ten she has been benefited by its use or knows someone who has. It will pay you to give this root and herb medicine a trial.

Make up for Grain and Fruit Losses by Keeping Down Vermin.

Studies of birds as insect destroyers and of vermin and parasite pests, extending through a century of observations, show that many so-called bird pests are themselves effective aids to the farmer, and insects not generally thought to be insect destroyers are active in that work. W. L. McAtee, of the Biological Survey of the Department of Agriculture says in a review of the annual report of the Smithsonian Institution just published.

Outstanding among these are cited the English Sparrow, often systematically destroyed as a pest, which nevertheless feeds upon the seven-year locust, asparagus beetle, locust leaf miner, tent caterpillar, canker worm, army worm and drop worm; and the bob white quail, usually a seed eater, which also feeds upon the locust and the olive scale.

Utility of Birds

"The general utility of birds in checking the increase of injurious animals and plants is well understood," he continues. "It must be admitted, however, that while birds constantly exert a repressive influence on the number of vermin and even exterminate certain pests locally, they are not numerous enough to cope successfully with widespread invasions."

Nevertheless, Mr. McAtee cites numerous authentic instances where bird flocks have destroyed insect plagues and their eggs and larvae so completely that such species have never returned to the localities where formerly they had wrought great crop damage, or were present in such depleted numbers as to be almost negligible. In most of the cases he cites, efforts of farmers or gardeners to eradicate the pests had proven fruitless and the crops had been given up for lost.

One reason for this near-extermination at times, he says, is that birds are prone to feed upon what over food is most easy to procure at the time. So that if berries or fruit are abundant in a locality they will constitute the birds' main food for the time, and when insects appear in great numbers, the birds are attracted to it to that abundant source and feed upon them, until the supply gives out.

Destroy Locust

Notable among many local exterminations of the Rocky Mountain or migratory locust, which even since 1918 has at times threatened grain fields in several sections, especially on the Great Plains, is the article tells of numerous times when grain growers despaired of saving crops from hordes of locusts so thick upon the ground as to be counted by the hundreds upon a square foot of field. Just as they had given up hope of saving their crops, flocks of yellow head, and Brewster blackbirds, gulls, quail, English sparrows, among other species, appeared and fed upon the pests with such effect that much of the grain survived the attacks.

The article includes many instances, as well as of saving crops both in field and garden, in eastern sections, of near-annihilation of grubs, moths, caterpillars, beetles and parasites in trees, especially in orchards, and shows the great good done by the birds in these respects.

Owls Kill Rats

Owls have been placed in rat or mice-infested cellars and granaries, he says with such success as to eliminate these chief sources of widespread economic loss in grains and cereals.

Hot house gardeners, he declares, have often found it profitable to introduce species of birds known to be insect or locust destroyers within the houses, instead of spraying or otherwise using chemicals.

Summing up, he declares farmers will soon see the wisdom of protecting many bird species upon their land, mainly by supplying food during times of scarcity, water for drinking and bathing, and nest boxes or nesting places, as well as protecting them from molestation at all times.

Much Northern Land Awaits Development

One hundred thousand farms of 80 acres each are waiting development in upper Wisconsin, the state college of agriculture says. This land is reported as having good soil, an abundant rainfall, is close to railroads and has access to large markets.

Nearly one half of the 18,500,000 acres in the northern counties is already occupied in farms in all stages of development, leaving 7,500,000 acres of good farm land, as well as 2,500,000 acres suitable only for pasture and forestry purposes.

The rapid development of these upper Wisconsin areas is said to be shown by the large increase in the number of farms in Douglas, Price and Marinette counties during the past 20 years. Douglas county the number of farms has risen from

IOWA CROPS HARD HIT BY BIG STORM

Boone, Ia.—Crops on hundreds of farms in Boone county were destroyed by a hail and wind storm said to have been the most severe in the history of the county. The storm caused damage estimated at thousands of dollars. So far as known, no one was injured.

"These counties have been settled during the past 30 years and are similar in general character to the land yet to be developed," the college reports. "In this same area the number of present acres of grain and corn have increased one-third to over five times the acreage of 1910, and the number of milk cows has doubled."

There are many different kinds of soil in this part of the state varying from heavy clays to light sands," the statement continues. "Rainfall is generally sufficient except in the very lightest sandy soil. The relative freedom of the section from the hot, dry southwest winds which occur in the country farther south also means less loss from drought and the more effective use of the rainfall."

"The temperatures of the section are not as favorable for corn as for smaller grains. The time having an average of 130 days without killing frost, running through Polk, southern Chippewa and Lincoln and central Marinette counties, marks the northern limit of the section in which early corn will be uninjured by frost four out of five years. North of this line the risk of injury becomes greater."

"The temperatures of northern Wisconsin is characterized by cold winters with clear atmosphere, and summers of moderately cool but quite uniform temperatures. This climate is particularly adapted to the growing of small grains and of grass for pasture and hay."
